

McGILL DEBATERS DEFEAT OTTAWA AND BISHOP'S

HEAVY WEEKEND SCHEDULE FACES CAGERS, PUCKSTERS ON CRUCIAL ROAD TRIPS

Davies' Squad In Weighty Tilts

Last night the McGill Senior cagers pulled out of Windsor station to embark on what amounts to a 'suicide' trip in the Intercollegiate Basketball League. Our super-duper hoop loopers will have their hands full when they take on the Western Mustangs in London tonight, while tomorrow evening they will be facing the Varsity quintet in Toronto.

A double loss over the weekend would eliminate the Redmen from championship race, while a twin victory would just about clinch first place for the Red Raiders. Lou Davies dapper dippers are not going to have any soft time of it, with the unbeaten Western crew being the most formidable opposition.

WESTERN STRONG

Johnny Melras' Purple and White basketballers trounced our stalwart here two weeks ago by a 49-29 count, and paced by high-scoring Bob Phibbs and Al Scorgie, the Mustangs are going to be pretty hard to saddle in their own lair. The London quintet has a sharp-shooting, high-riding style of play, and McGill's zone defense will have to be close to impregnable to stifle the Western scoring threats.

As far as the Toronto terrors are concerned, the Redmen are confident that they can duplicate their victory over the Queen City cagers last Friday. McGill won that tilt 40-39, and tomorrow night's contest promises to be a real thriller. Coach Roy Dilworth of Varsity is quoted as saying that he would be the most surprised man in Toronto "if we don't beat McGill by ten points this time."

The Blues are noted for their fast-breaking style of play, and their sole defense is interception of the opposition's passes.

They showed this style of play to advantage in the first minutes of their clash with McGill, but after that the Redmen seemed to catch on, and were more careful with their passes. Varsity boasts a high-scoring team, sparked by flashy performers like Wally Zeaton, Harry Mayzel, Murray Thompson, and "Whitely" Clayton.

DAVIDON OUT
Except for George "Flick" Davidson, who has a foot infection, the Red and White stalwarts will be at full strength for their weekend matches. Davidson is a doubtful starter, and McGill's none too potent offense will be sadly weakened by his loss. Dave Greenburg, who has been a steady performer with the Redmen all season, will start in one forward slot, while Ron Bower, Pete Finlay, and Ken Hoyle will round out the McGill lineup.

Co-ed Park Slide To Be Held Tues. On Mount Royal

Tobogganing, Skating Dancing in Club House Will Highlight Evening

The Co-ed event of the term, the Coast-dance, will be held on the Mount Royal Park Slide. The party will start at 8 p.m. with tobogganing on the slide and skating on Beaver lake for those who prefer it. The Coast is being sponsored by the Women's Union and M.W.S.A.

The Slide is being reserved for the evening by McGill and there will be dancing in the Club House later in the evening. Heddy Brown is in charge of tickets. These have been on sale for the past week and may be obtained from the following co-eds: Nancy Parkinson, Michele Debrule, Peggy Ann MacFarlane, Mary Lemmesur, Betty Lenny, Dorothy Peterson, Alison Macrimmon, Diana MacIntyre, Ruth Hankinson, Jane Bishop, Bobby Fenton, Sydney Fullerton, Dorothy Helleur, Thea Hertzberg, Ann Mercer, Sheila Mingie, Davida Griffin, Joy McKay, Mary Mitham, Joyce Beatty.

McGill Film Society Will Present 'A Nation of Skiers' Next Monday

On Monday, Feb. 18 The McGill Film Society will present Mario Gabriel and the Movie "A Nation of Skiers," in Room 250 of the Biology Building.

"A Nation of Skiers" was produced by the Swiss Ski Schools and has just been released by the Swiss Government. The showing of this film at McGill will be the first large public presentation on this continent. The movie shows both the technical and the general aspects of skiing.

There will be examples of pre-season exercises, often overlooked in this country, as well as shots of racing, cross country, and jumping as taught by the Swiss Ski School. The general skiing includes shots of three World Champions of Federation Internationale de Ski; Rominger, David Zogg and Furrer.

Campbell's Six Seeks 4th Win

By DAVID MARKS

Pointing for their fourth victory in the '46 Thompson Trophy race, McGill's hockey warriors leave the sacred portals of the Royal Institution to do battle with the winless Gaels of Frontenac county at the Jack Harly arena tonight.

This game will be one which will allow the supporters of the big Red Machine an opportunity to see how the team stacks up in comparison with the Varsity Blues. Playing on this small ice surface, where the close checking Queen's men are in their element, the Blue and White were able to ram in six goals and if McGill can do as well the Sherbrooke Street brigade will breathe much easier.

TWO TEAMS

At the present time it appears as if Coach Dave Campbell will ice two complete teams as in the last game against the Tricolor with Gelineau guarding the nets. The defence will be headed by Captain Bobby Broderick, rated to be the best rearguard in the loop this year, and "Goose" Gosselin. Cy Beigler, who showed well in the last game, and Dougie Heron, the team's bad man, will round out the defence.

Tommy Hale will continue to centre brother George and Regie Sinclair but Danny Porteous, who has missed the first three Intercollegiate games this season, will probably replace little Ernie Spiller at left wing on the line with Johnny Peirson and Jimmy O'Connor.

PEIRSON THIRD

This trio have been the best point getters for the Redmen this year and the line has improved in every game to date. Johnny Peirson is third in league scoring, close on the heels of Gignac, who has participated in five games to date, and Wally Halder, recently placed on the reserve list of the Maple Leafs.

The biggest stumbling block to our sharpshooters will be Dave Woods, the net minder of the Gaels. Woods has played excellent hockey this year but has been hampered by poor clearing about the nets by the Queen's defence. In both games in this city this year the best front line of the Tricolour has been Ohlke, Hood and Morrow but both lines appear to be able to travel in top gear for the first period only and then slow down to a walk. George Elliot is the best rearguard on the team and in the last game against the Red and White gave Johnny Peirson a great deal of trouble with some solid bodychecks.

Local Pianist Ellen Ballon To Play on Feb. 22 at RVC

Fourth Student Subscription Concert
Features Montreal Born Artist
Graduate of McGill

On February 22, Ellen Ballon, Canadian pianist, will make an appearance at R.V.C. in the fourth of the Student Subscription Concert Series.

Born in Montreal, Miss Ballon began playing the piano when three and a half years of age, making her first appearance at the age of five. That year she won the Director's Piano Scholarship from the McGill Conservatorium of Music. She made her first appearance as soloist with the New York Symphony Orchestra when only ten years old.

In 1927 Miss Ballon began a tour of Europe as a recitalist, visiting the British Isles, the Scandinavian countries as well as many other prominent cities in Europe. In 1922 she was presented to their majesties, King George V and Queen Mary. She has played on many occasions before members of the British Royal Family as well as the Royal representatives in Canada.

Ellen Ballon has appeared twice before Presidents of the United States. She played for President Taft at which time she became the youngest pianist ever to play in the White House. She was then awarded a gold medal to mark the occasion. Later when Miss Ballon was again in Washington, President Roosevelt invited her once more to play at the White House. Miss Ballon has been credited as an outstanding player of Bach's music. It has been traditional for her to include at least one Bach selection on her program. "Program making," states Miss Ballon, "is second in importance only to the actual performance."

Provisional NFCUS Committee Elected to Draft Constitution

A committee of six persons was elected by acclamation to form a NFCUS constitution for the McGill organization at their first meeting this year in the Union Grill Room last night. This committee was also empowered to act as the executive of the organization until a permanent committee is elected. Clem Beauchamp, SEC-appointed NFCUS chairman and Harold Ames, SEC ex-officio chairman of that body, outlined briefly during the course of the meeting the history of NFCUS, its aims, its past activities and possible immediate and future objectives.

Marking the first entry of students into active participation in NFCUS activities, representatives from various groups and organizations on the McGill campus elected the following provisional and constitution-drafting committee: Clem Beauchamp, Harold Ames, Mel Shiffman, John MacDonald, Miss F. Walls and Miss D. Lamb.

The National Federation of Canadian University Students or NFCUS was formed in 1926 with the general aims of overcoming racial and economic barriers and of promoting greater understanding between University students in the different national areas. The Federation's activities were greatly curtailed by the outbreak of war and the first post-war re-organization took place on May 25th of last year at a conference held in London, Ontario. Jack Pye was chosen by the SEC to represent McGill at that conference.

Among some of the past achievements of NFCUS, mentioned by Clem Beauchamp, were exchange scholarships, establishment of the CUP (Canadian University Press), reduced railway fares for students, University tours on a national and international basis, student employment and the extension of debating team programs. He urged that these past activities should be continued and suggested immediate objectives such as an Inter-University Drama League and a Radio Workshop to beam programs on international wave-lengths. "Perhaps our main objective," he continued, "is to assure a truly national representation at the Canadian Youth Conference to be called this year."

The present aim of NFCUS is to become familiar with every phase of student activity in Canadian universities. Locally, it is to bring as many of the McGill groups and organizations as possible into active NFCUS participation. Each group is entitled to one official representative. The permanent executive organization and degree of autonomy from the Students' Executive Council will be decided at future NFCUS meetings.

A last decision adopted at the meeting limited voting to official representatives from the various students' groups.

Dr. John B. Phillips has been promoted from Associate Professor to Professor of Chemical Engineering, to assume charge of the new Department of Chemical Engineering which is to be inaugurated at McGill, it was announced from the Principal's office yesterday.

Commenting on Dr. Phillips' appointment, Dr. O. Maass, Chairman of the Department of Chemistry, stated, "His eminent professional qualifications and experience and the high personal esteem in which he is held by his colleagues augurs well for the future of the department which he now heads."

The establishment of a Department of Chemical Engineering separate from the Chemistry Department has been a trend at all major universities," he added. Despite its relation to Engineering, the new department will remain closely coordinated with the Chemistry Department thereby avoiding a duplication of staff.

Dr. Phillips is a graduate of McGill in Chemical Engineering. He has been in charge of the teaching of the subject since 1931 and was also engaged in research and consulting here before the war. During the war he was active in the initial planning and the technical aspects of explosives and chemical projects

McGill Tops Eastern IUDL League, Upholding and Contesting Resolution On Forced Military Duty for Youth

Judges Hand Down Unanimous Decision To Negative Team

McGill's team won last night's debate against Ottawa University, with the unanimous vote of the three judges. The topic of the debate was "Resolved that every able-bodied Canadian youth should serve one year compulsory military service." The Ottawa team of MacDonald, Caza and Richard Parisien spoke in the affirmative, with Isadore Rosenfeld and Ted Hugesson of McGill upholding the negative.

The judges were Canon Gower-Rees, archdeacon of St. George's church, Colonel Gilbert Stairs, K.C., Montreal barrister and graduate of Oxford, and Mr. R. W. Speirs, headmaster of Selwyn House. Mr. John Dando, lecturer in English acted as chairman.

MacDonald Caza, who is a member of the Student's Executive Council, and Vice Pres. of the Debating Society of Ottawa University, was the first speaker.

He stated that his team proposed to base their argument on the premise that differences of opinion have always been universal in nations as in individuals, therefore struggle is inevitable, and we cannot expect an automatic state of peace to prevail. We must be prepared to defend peace. "The stage is now set so that the whole world is involved, and no country can hope for peace unless she is willing, and prepared, to participate in the world's struggles," stated Mr. Caza.

To the question "Will UNO succeed?" the speaker gave a definite 'NO'. "There are too many ingredients of conflict, ill feeling and distrust are the logical outcome. 'It is ironic,' he said 'that the United Nations have so little faith in their organization.' 'All countries must protect their citizens and their soil. They may not depend on their stronger neighbors. They have a moral duty to train their own citizens in defence. Canada as leader of the middle class of nations cannot retire into her boundaries. Scientific advances have made it certain that wars of tomorrow will extend to all countries.'

Mr. Rosenfeld was the first speaker for the negative. His view was that "No nation will follow the paths of peace while any other nation trains its citizens for war. Programs of compulsory military training would accomplish only the initiation of a world, armament race." His argument also stressed the view that Canada's small population and her great resources, indicated that her most valuable contribution must be in feeding and equipping our allies, not in supplying armies. Scientific development in this Atomic age tends to minimize the role of all soldiers and armies.

The second speaker for the affirmative was Richard Parisien, who pointed out that the U.S.A. and Canada were the most logical countries to be attacked in the event of war, and the despite the atomic age, war could not be waged by the mere pressing of buttons.

In reply to this, Ted Hugesson of McGill maintained that compulsory training did not give unlimited security. He also stressed that military training, as such, was of no beneficial value in respect to the promotion of national health.

The songs from the Revue are being specially recorded and will be placed on the Juke Box in the Grill Room. These songs, both written by McGill Students will be sung by members of the cast. "Morning Dew" composed by Roy Dohn will be sung by John Cosgrove, while "My Lonely Hearts Pleading," by Donnie Johnston is to be sung by Lois Taylor.

The songs are to be recorded Saturday, by the Radio Workshop, in their studio. Two other records will also be made. All students are invited to listen for these when they appear in the Union and over local radio stations.

There will be a meeting in the Union Board Room tomorrow at one o'clock for all people connected with the Revue administration. This includes all committees as well as the board of directors. It is important that all departments be represented.

A sheep which resided at Sutton, For emergencies cared not a button. At an oncoming car. It merely said "Bah"— And in less than two toots it was mutton.

In winning the two debates which were held last night at Bishop's College and here, McGill assumes the leading place in the Eastern Section of the Inter-University Debating League.

Revue Directors Still Searching For 'The Shape'

Will Be Satisfied
With Perfection
And Nothing Else

By K.S.T.

The search is still under way! Yes indeed, the Directors of the Red and White Revue are still scouring the campus in their frantic search for the girl with the perfect figure.

So far the quest has been in vain, for as a member of the Board of Directors explained last night, "The Board is so intent on making this edition of the Revue a first class show, that it will be satisfied with nothing short of perfection plus."

When found, "The Shape" will take part in a tableau, where all her attributes will be shown off to the best advantage. Original music has been scored for this scene, and the rest of the cast has been chosen. All that is lacking is the star; however, the Directors have sworn to keep on the job, in spite of the arduous nature of the task that lies before them. "The show must go on," and the Revue seems to be no exception.

If you happen to see a co-ed striking a dramatic pose in the Grill Room, or any other site on the campus, with a couple of gaunt looking men (they always hunt in couples, its safer) scrutinizing her with a piercing gaze, don't worry, its only some poor tired Directors trying to carry out their job to the best of their ability. And if you catch some haggard student staring at you with a little more than the usual intensity, don't be indignant, you are being paid the nicest compliment since Adam looked at Eve.

The contest, which, until this point, had been argued with equal weight on either side, was decided by the rebuttal of Jim Hemens, who succeeded in reducing the validity of his opponents, in the few minutes allotted to him at the end of the discussion.

With the winning of the debates both here and at Lennoxville, McGill assumes the leading place in the Eastern Section of the Inter-University Debating League. This is the first time in many years that a team from this campus has lasted even into the semi-finals.

Representation

FROM THE BRUNSWICKAN,
FREDERICTON

(Ed. Note:—The following editorial on Student Government appeared in "The Brunswickan", publication of the University of New Brunswick on Thursday, Feb. 7.)

The topic for discussion on the campus still seems to be the question of representation on the Students' Representative Council. The latest proposal set before the students is the suggestion that the Veterans' Club have a representative, probably their President, who would also represent Alexander College.

Upon first looking at the suggestion it might possibly appear sound. But it does not bear very careful inspection before the obvious defects in it are evident. The possibility that the President of the Veterans' Club should represent Alexander College is certainly ridiculous, since the present President is not a member of Alexander College. If, on the other hand, the representative was an Alexanderite, then the situation would not be so bad.

In any case it would seem that some are of the opinion that the Veterans' Club should have representation on the S. R. C. Consider what such a step would mean. At present the Veterans on the campus comprise a large percentage of the total enrollment. It can be argued that such a large group would merit representation on the Council. But is this actually the case? The veterans came to U. N. B. presumably with the intention of becoming assimilated into the life of the University as fully as possible. Of course it was natural for them to organize a Veterans' Club since they had specific jobs to perform in helping their members to become adjusted to the new way of life that the University presents. They are to be congratulated on the splendid way in which they have carried out this very important part of their activities, particularly in their well-organized and efficiently-run Housing Campaign.

But all this organization of the veterans was not done with the purpose of forming an individual group within the student body. They have taken their places in the various campus organizations along with the rest of the students, and this is as it should be. However, this assimilation into campus activities would be of little value if the Veterans' Club was set up as a closed group on the campus, and was used by the veterans as a means of forcing their collective will on the rest of the students. Such a state of affairs would exist if the Veterans' Club was recognized as a unit on the campus and therefore given representation on the S. R. C. I think that it can be assumed that the veterans do not wish this to occur. They are already represented along with their fellow student members of the classes and faculty societies.

With these thoughts in mind it must be evident that it would be a step in the wrong direction to ask the Veterans to elect a representative to the Students' Council. Things have been running very smoothly on the campus. There has been no friction between veteran and non-veteran students. And this has been due to the fact that the veterans themselves have made a definite effort to take their part in campus activities alongside the rest of the students, and have not asked for any special consideration because of their particular status. It is to be hoped that this arrangement will be continued as long as there are any students on the campus who have spent time in the armed services.

The Daily Meets

RABBI WISE

by Naomi Pascal

It was more than appropriate that this man should have been the one to officiate yesterday at the dedication of the McGill Hillel Foundation Home, not only because of his years of activity in the interests of American Jewry, and particularly for Jewish youth, but especially so because Rabbi Wise has been directly connected with Hillel for the last quarter of a century. As founder of the Jewish Institute of Religion in New York, he has had the personal pleasure of seeing eighteen of his graduates assume the positions of Hillel Directors at the various universities. Of this number is included McGill Hillel's own Rabbi Abraham Soltes to whom Dr. Wise refers as "an uncommon leader of young people."

"When I was a student at Columbia some fifty-three years ago," said Rabbi Wise in his dedication address, "there were very few Jewish students, and none of them girls." Here a flash of humour interrupted the speaker's serious words as he added: "Those were the days when there were no girls, and we didn't have to write exams to graduate—that's how I graduated—" Continuing, however, he told how Hillel came to be organized, at first with the aim of ridding young Jews of their ignorance in their racial history, traditions, and life in general. "For," he declared, "I pity not Jews who are learned and informed, and have a sense of relationship to a Jewish people," but rather those who are "without defense," who lack understanding of "the wonderful story of aspiration, that is the Jewish people's." At this point the Rabbi could not refrain from explaining his hope for the future as being that of the return of his people to Palestine, a fact which can be easily understood when one realizes his ardent work for the cause of Zion during the last half century.

This is the message that Rabbi Stephen S. Wise sent to the students of this university; "I congratulate both Hillel and McGill. The dedication of Hillel House was equally honouring to both. Dr. Thomson (who represented the University) expressed it uncommonly well, and I rejoice to think of the young people who will come under the leadership of Rabbi Abraham Soltes, the Director of McGill Hillel." Our visitor has left a lasting impression.

Mockery

by Helene N. Kernan

I walked in the hills, saw the scarlet quiver
Of Noon unfold, high above the river.
But your bright image before me risen
Robbed me of peace and dazzled my vision.

In twilight I stumbled on a velvet clearing,
Where fairy shadows the mound were near.
Dismayed by the challenge of your laughter
Startled, they swiftly vanished after.

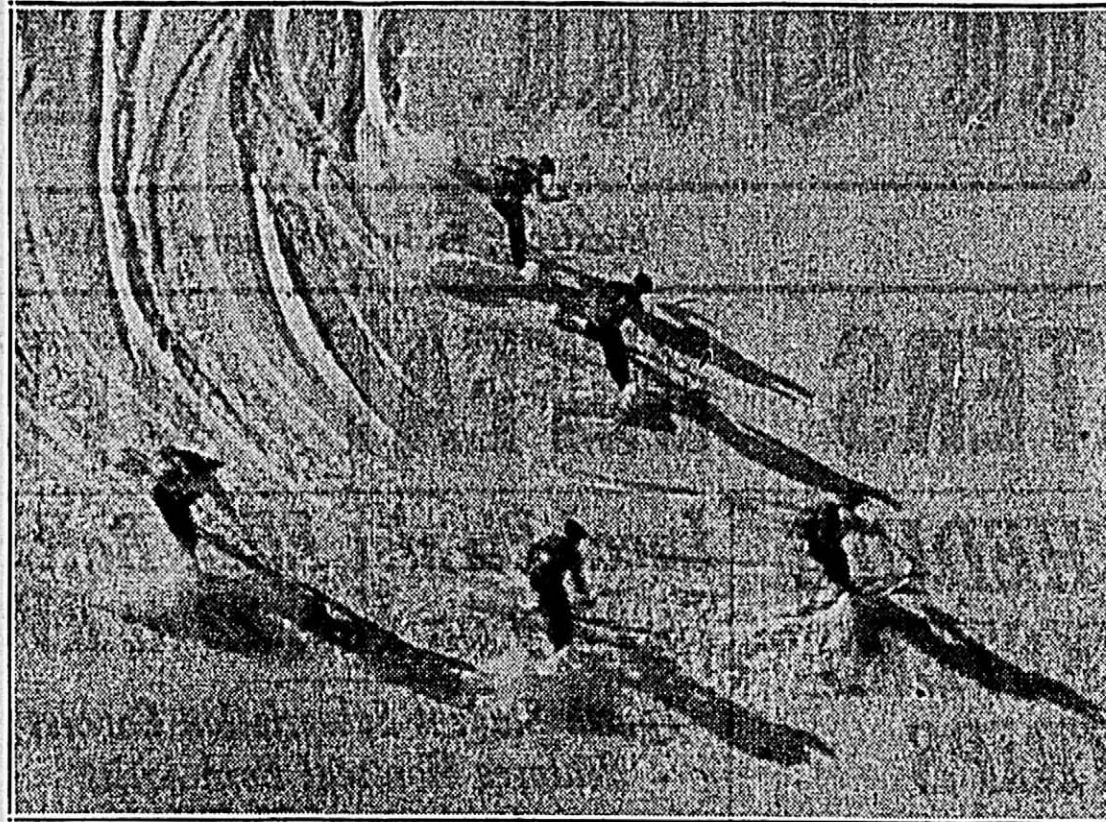

Sobbing, I fled the marble faces
Of your disdain. Through cool dim spaces
Clutched at the stars with glance despairing,
Sky-reflected, you mocked my daring.

There's mist on the woods and a frail moon-spire,
But tonight I shall sit by a sheltered fire.
Well may you smile while my heart lies aching,
'Tis a wise revenge of your own making!

CONGRATULATIONS

The Daily Staff would like to offer their sincerest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Richter on the birth of a daughter, Peggy Ruth, born at 4.20 yesterday afternoon at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

The above scene is taken from the full length Swiss film, to be shown Monday, 5 p.m., in Room 250 of the Biology Bldg. It will be followed by a speech by Mario Gabriel, ski instructor, and one of the founders of the Canada Ski School.

LETTER FORUM

COMPLAINT

The Editor-in-Chief,
Sir,

In reference to your past editorials concerning "pressure groups", I fail to see the necessity for you to carry the crusading banner to stop the "persecution" of the down trodden LPP Club. You refer to their withdrawal of their amendments as due to some unspecified outside force; this is a preposterous interpretation of the situation, as no group on the campus is in a position to persuade that Club to drop the amendments if they were backed by any honest and sincere feeling. The retraction was obviously a politically expedient move to avert certain defeat.

As the L.P.P. Executive proposed amendments, people naturally are forced to use their name, but not once I am certain was the phrase Communist mentioned, much less the word "Red", which you stated was thrown in the face of certain students.

I was considerably surprised to read in The Daily of February 14th a notice printed by you for the Labor Progressive Party. Reading further, I found it was not a typographical error, because it concerned that political party's campaign for signatures to their housing petition. I feel that it is your responsibility to see that The Daily is not used as a political organ of the Labor Progressive Party to advertise their activities.

AN OUTRAGED READER.

IRREGULARITIES

To the Editor:

At Wednesday's Student Society Meeting occurred several things of general interest, not widely known. For example, at one point, when it had become clear that the temper of the meeting had turned very much against the Executive's quorum proposal, it was proposed to see whether a quorum (100) was present. Immediately, a large group of students left the hall, lest a quorum be in attendance and the meeting continued. A quorum being declared present, these students reentered the room—a strange sight on a campus which is supposedly threatened by only ONE "pressure group"—the big bad boys of the Left.

Another point on which many will concur, is the strangeness of the attitude taken by the Chairman. That gentleman seemed to take particular delight in interrupting students who were apparently his opponents. Another irregularity, was the way certain points of order were put to the vote, and others not. All this lays the background for the highlight of the meeting. After the quorum call had been weathered, and a motion to raise the quorum to 250 had been defeated by about two votes (128-84), the Council's proposal for a five hundred quorum was discussed. Judging by the previous vote, the measure seemed doomed. At this point adjournment was moved, and amid cries for a recount, the Chairman declared the meeting adjourned by a vote of 81-78. This high-handed manner of ending the debate is strange, since on many previous occasions, recounts had been taken.

Suggestions for a fairer meeting: No motion for an immediate vote, that is, for the limitation of debate, should be passed without a two-third majority. A recount should be allowed on ALL votes.

NAT WOLFE,
Arts II.

IT WAS NOT SO

The Editor,
McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,

May we, on behalf of the Executive of the CCF Club, take strong objection to the false statements made by Mr. Leon Davicho in his letter of Wednesday past. The CCF Club did not in any way and at any time participate in any "coalition" against amendments proposed by the McGill LPP club. Moreover at no time was any member of our Executive ever approached to participate in such a coalition.

Moreover we sincerely feel that no such action should be taken. Our concept of the position of our club on the Campus rules out any action on campus politics, our activity will remain entirely in the field of political discussion. Members of the McGill CCF Club have not as yet and have no intention of voting on the proposed amendments in any other way than as individual students.

Sincerely,
CRANN PRATT
LEO ZAKUTA.

IN ANSWER

To the Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—Since I wrote my letter to you two days ago concerning the detrimental effect of political party struggle on the Campus, quite a few people have approached me expressing their agreement with the points that I had brought up. However, I noticed with great regret and astonishment that some students, like Mr. Glassman, who is considered to be one of the leading figures and even the "spiritual leader" of one of the parties, have protested. Now, with your permission I shall answer the charges laid against me by my good friend Mr. Glassman point by point:

1) I did not expect a student of such high qualifications as Mr. Glassman to write such a childish, sarcastic, "highly intellectual" and nonsensical letter in answer to a sincere expression of disgust on my part. Frankly, Mr. Glassman, I am a little tired of this "highly intellectual" type of discussion which lays stress on points which are of no importance whatever in order to eliminate sound discussion on points which are really important.

2) Mr. Glassman says that he is not aware of any "coalition of the three other parties." My answer to this is: You should be aware of it because it certainly existed at the time and the place which I specified. Please do not try to depict your party to the students as a beneficial organization because such an attitude is doomed to failure.

3) Mr. Glassman defies me to say that "the majority of students at the meeting voted other than in the manner dictated by their conscience." Well, I can only ask Mr. Glassman to be sincere for a moment and at that particular time I shall DEFY HIM to prove that this was not the case.

4) Hereby I retract the "false statements" I made in order to please Mr. Glassman and his colleagues from the CCF Executive, but I want to stress again that these were minor issues and that everybody else, with the exception of the CCF fuhrers whose confused minds work in a rather complicated way, understood this.

Finally, I want to deny STRONGLY and OFFICIALLY that I had any intentions of defending "our dear LPP."

1) I am quite sure that the LPP can ably defend itself, aren't you, Mr. Glassman & Co.?

2) I accuse Mr. Glassman of

I state here, once for all times, that I am not a member of any political party on the Campus or outside and that I shall never join any, neither the LPP nor the PC, not the Liberals, and most certainly not, dear Mr. Glassman and Co., the party of parties, the CCF.

I hope, dear Mr. Editor, that I shall not have to abuse your kindness again, but this will depend entirely on the attitude taken by our political geni here.

Thank you!

BOXERS AND WRESTLERS EXCEL IN TOURNEY

Redmen Show Finesse In Competitive Tussles; Sabbath, Common Shine

Intercollegiate Team Drawn Up After Last Night's Exhibitions

By MARTY FRANKLIN

Last night under the glaring light over the rink, six salted wrestling bouts and seven action-packed boxing matches were fought.

In the wrestling section class, mat-wise Sherwin Raymond, 135 pounds, defeated his more muscular opponent Pleasant (YMCA) by taking two straight falls.

The second bout saw T. Stafford, 155 pounds, of McGill, a gamy, slightly out of condition grappler go down in a decision to his more experienced and speedier opponent F. Martin (YMCA). This McGill man, however, shows much promise of future victories.

SABBATH THE SAGE

Doc Sabbath, 155 pounds, sage of the mat squad, masterfully brought victory for the McGill colors in three minutes flat. His opponent, Champagne, was so stunned that he didn't know where Joe was most of the bout. The Y.M.C.A. man was sent from the ring with a dislocated shoulder.

The next grappling was between McGill's powerful Jim MacLeod, 165 pounds and Tom Gordon (Y.M.C.A.). Jim showed much more speed and endurance than his older opponent, and after a somewhat one-sided struggle, won by decision.

The most exciting and nerve-straining match was that put on by Wally Kowal, 175 pounds, McGill, and M. Vachon (Y.M.C.A.). These two Herculean-built, musclemen threw everything but the book at each other. Kowal showed a superb speed and strength of combination, but unfortunately was not as experienced as Vachon, who won by a hair-splitting decision.

BOXING BOUTS

The glove-pelting battles, consisting of three rounds each, started off with a hell-for-leather bout, between two Red and White 118 pound boys, Bob Bassett versus Robert Morrow. Morrow, with veteran versatility, out-punched his taller opponent with cutting one-two's and won by the judges verdict.

Next, in the 125 pound class, J. Rodgers and A. McAdam squared off. The latter was too strong for Rodgers. In the second round, McAdam put on a blitzkrieg attack and when the smoke cleared away, Rodger was on the canvas and was called for the count.

The most rough-and-tumble exhibition was that in the 135 pound class. John Henry, alias "perpetual-motion," swarmed over D. Wallace throughout the bout, and was declared victor by decision.

ROUGH AND SPEEDY

Bouncing 135 pound Eric Robinson, continually hammered John Heney into the ropes with brutal bolo-punches, and as a result, emerged as victor of the match. Ken Boucher and Don McLaren, weighing 145 pounds each, showed their pleasing punches in speedy, unpredictable rounds. Boucher gained the decision by a narrow margin.

In the 155 pound division, Terry Rogers and Jerry Shanahan were the combatants. This was a free-for-all, with no holds barred; an honest-to-goodness slug-fest, with Rogers winning in the end.

The final tussle between J. Piper and D. Common, both Arismen, brought the crowd to its feet on six occasions, as Piper was pried off the floor by Common's brutal lefts. Common took the bout by a wide margin.

Mahabir Winner Over Sunny Lee In Ping Pong Tilt

Meets Ed Champagne In Final Match Today For University Title

Winston Mahabir came through with a smashing victory over S. D. "Sunny" Lee yesterday to enter the final round of the University table tennis tournament. Mahabir faces the other finalist, Eddie Champagne, today at one o'clock in a best-of-seven match for the championship.

Warbling Winston had to come from behind to cop the verdict

Hoopsters, Puck Enthusiasts See Action Out Dawson Way

Intramural Loops Provide Contests; Many Participate

Intra-mural activities are giving along at Dawson with the Basketball league in full swing. The league is divided up into a number of sections of 4-5 teams each, and 15-20 games are played each week.

Up to the present, a hard, fast game of basketball has characterized all play, with the roughness depending on the referee. A number of the contests have resembled football games due to the large number of elbows, ankles, torsoes, and fists being swung recklessly about. One case of a player clamping a headlock on an opponent in order to obtain possession of the ball has already been recorded. Aside from these scattered incidents, the brand of ball has been clean and fast, with lopsided scores uncommon.

"A" TEAM PLAYS

Strangely enough, though members of the A team are allowed to play in the league, the top scoring has been shared by two players neither of which is a member of Gerry Leonard's Lineup. Toye, of the B bounce-ballers leads the loop with 34 points, closely followed by Ramsey with 28.

Intra-mural hockey has been organized, and eight teams are lined up for the commencement of hostilities on Wednesday. The acute shortage of sticks has hit some of the squads so hard, that a number are contemplating withdrawing. One set of players was overheard discussing who would use the one and only stick and who would play ice soccer.

Badminton has yet to be organized into a tournament, but is played by a large number of students late at night. Bowling has commenced, and is on its way. Volleyball is a possibility. Dawson's intra-mural athletics are rolling along.

BASKET SWISHER

from Lee, the defending champ. After dropping the first game, Mahabir made good use of his powerful attacking game to take the next two in short order. Lee came back to cop the fourth game, making remarkable returns that kept the spectators on the edge of their seats throughout the game.

MAHABIR COASTS

But the last two games were all Mahabir's; he coasted to victory in the fifth set-to and piled up a comfortable lead in the last. Then, with victory in sight, Lee made a desperate comeback and tied the game at deuce. Two blinding slams and it was all over; Mahabir had defeated the Champ. The match score was 18-21, 21-8, 21-9, 14-21, 21-11, 22-20.

Today's final match brings together two exponents of the wide-open, hard-driving game. Mahabir and Champagne are experienced tournament players, and the match promises to provide plenty of thrills, especially to those who are skeptical of the validity of table tennis as a tough sport.

McGill, St. Johns Ice Squads Clash For First Place

The Dawson and McGill Intermediate hockey squads swing into action tonight in a game to decide the league leaders. At present, Dawson is atop the loop with three consecutive victories, while McGill is only one point behind with two victories and a draw. Tonight's game will leave only one undefeated team in the circuit, and this squad will be on top.

The game was originally scheduled for last Wednesday evening, but a 50 mph. gale and a brief thaw forced the postponement until tonight.

TORRID PACE

The Dawsonites have set a torrid pace thus far in the league, and Loyola was the only team which held them to a close score—3-2. After tying the Montreal Redmen two weeks ago, the Aggies from St. Anne's came to St. Johns and bowed 8-2 to the powerful Dawson sextette. The goalgetting efforts of playing-coach Henry, Hayward, Somers, Knubley, and the defensive work of McCarroll have been noteworthy thus far for the Dawsonites.

McGill has been improving steadily, and boast imposing array of players on paper—many of whom have played Senior. Dawson has a well balanced team with an ace forward line of Henry, Somers and Hayward.

Red Natators Travel to U.S. For Swim Meet

Williams College Team to Offer Keen Competition

In what will be their last regular tune-up south of the old border, the Red and White natators move down to Williamston, Massachusetts this week-end to face the swimming enthusiasts of Williams College. The eleven man team sporting the Red and White colors will be out to continue their winnings at the expense of American teams, having taken an even fifty per cent of their meets in the past; and offering the stiffest competition to their conquerors.

STIFF OPPOSITION

The team, consisting of such versatile stars as George Athans, Irwin Fineberg, Gerry Cooper, Mingle and Van Wagner will leave tomorrow morning by bus, in order to be ready for the competition Saturday afternoon. Other star-rific members of the McGill swimming aggregate include "Back-stroke" MacLean, and free-stylers Fullerton, Elder, Quayle and Taylor. The opposition which the local natators come up against is without a doubt of first-class quality; having won the New England Circuit Championship last year, with many hold-overs present in the line-up of the Williams College eleven this semester.

NINE EVENTS

The events which will take place include the Free Style—fifty yards, one hundred yards, two hundred and twenty yards, and four hundred and forty yards; a two hundred yard free-style relay and a three hundred yard medley relay. Following this, the two hundred yard breast-stroke event takes precedence over the remaining races, with Van Wagner and Fineberg competing for the McGill entry. It will be MacLean and Mingle trying to cop the laurels in the hundred and fifty yard back-stroke event; aided aptly by the Dominion Diving Champ, George Athans in his performance on the springboard. That just about rounds out the nine main events of the competition, so watch out Williams College, we're comin' at you with all fours.

Besides offering some excellent competition for the McGill swimming team, this meet will serve as a final warm-up for two feature meets to be held later on this month. The first of these is an Intercollegiate competition, featuring representatives from Loyola, University of Montreal, Sir George Williams College, and our own local faithfuls. This meet will be held on February 22 at the N.D.G. Pool and will be followed by a A.S.A. all-star contest on February 27 at the same place. So let all those interested, take note of these important events and make them a must on those extra-curricular activities in which you literally voice your opinion to your heart's desire.

Senior Cagers Now Out of Playoffs

Squad's Outside Play And Impending Exams Necessitate Withdrawal

The McGill Senior cage entry in the M.B.L., although boasting an impressive record of eight victories against two defeats, have forced to withdraw from the playoff picture due the impending pressure of intercollegiate competition and spring exams.

TWO SIGHS

The news of the withdrawal probably brought forth a sigh of relief from the other teams in the post-season classics, as the Redmen have always been a formidable barrier to the playoff advancement of any team. On the other hand the ardent fans of the M.B.L. trail greet the withdrawal with a sigh, with the knowledge that they will probably be missing some fine hoop play from Davies' dapper dippers.

The individual trophies have yet to be handed out and speculation is running high among the cage faithful as to whether the league officials and referees will make a mistake and NOT give the Duquette trophy for the most valuable player to McGill's Pete Finlay.

A pitiful look asks enough. "Do you drive with one hand?" "Certainly." "Then have an apple."

GOAL GETTER

JOHNNY PEIRSON, above, travels with the Red Senior Pucksters to Kingston today where he will try to top the scoring heap at the expense of the hapless Gaels.

WATERPOLO

The McGill Intercollegiate water-polo team last night defeated the Dawson aggregate by the score of 8-1, at the Knigt Of Columbus Pool on Mountain street. The final score was not in any doubt, from the opening to the closing whistle, of the contest.

NEWMAN CLUB

The sleigh-ride on Saturday night, February 16, will start at 7.15. Those going will meet at Fletcher's Field (Park and Rachel) near the Monument. After the sleigh-ride, there will be dancing at St. Malachi's Hall until midnight. All Newmanites and their friends are invited; tickets may be obtained at the Tuck Shop.

On Sunday, February 17, the Newman Club will meet at the Convent of the Sacred Heart, at 10 a.m. The speaker will be Fr. Frank McMahon, former chaplain in the R.C.A.F.

Landry and Culver Win Squash Play

Finals Will Be Played Monday at Gymnasium; Provincial Tourney On

The semi-finals of the McGill Squash Tournament have finally been played and the results show that Dave Culver defeated Don Farlinger three games to one in a hard-fought, grueling match. In the other semi-final contest Peter Landry took Lemesurier into camp, three to nothing. By virtue of their victories, Culver and Landry now advance into the finals of the squash tourney, which will be played Monday afternoon at 5:30 p.m. at the Gym.

PROVINCIAL TOURNAMENT

Several games have already been played in the Provincial Squash Championship Tournament at the M.A.A., and the only McGill winner so far has been Peter Landry, who defeated his opponents in both the primary and secondary rounds of the tourney. Although the other McGill players did not do so well, it is reported that they turned in a good show against such opponents as Johnson of the Atwater Club, and Nicholson and Lee from the M.A.A., all of whom have played on Canadian teams.

The schedule of games played in the Provincial Tournament, is as follows:

Nicholson M.A.A. defeated Lemesurier McGill 3-1.
Landry McGill defeated D. Smith Atwater 3-0.

Lee M.A.A. defeated Stairs McGill 3-0.

Johnson Atwater defeated Culver McGill 3-1.
Boothe M.A.A. defeated Farlinger McGill 3-0.

SECOND ROUND MATCH

RABBI STEPHEN S. WISE is shown as he delivered the dedication address at the opening of the new house of the Hillel Foundation at McGill University. At the same time the Chapel was dedicated by Rabbi B. Kahn, last year's Hillel director. (McGill Daily — Peter Hall.)

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise Dedicates Hillel House; Traces Institute's Rise

Dean Thomson Extends Greetings Of Principal at Opening Ceremony

In a ceremony witnessed by a large part of the Jewish element at McGill, as well as representatives of the Mount Royal Lodge No. 729 of B'nai B'rith, the Hillel home was yesterday dedicated by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.

As the lounge, where the ceremony was held, was not large enough to accommodate all the guests, students were scattered all over the three-story house, and were able to hear everything by means of a public address system. Hostesses, attired in caps and gowns, were everywhere, enforcing the "no smoking" ruling.

The program started with an invocation, given by Rabbi Charles Bender, after which Mr. Morris Levy, the President of the local chapter of the B'nai B'rith, offered a welcome. A responsive reading, followed by a selection by the Hillel choir led up to the Dedication address by Dr. Wise, who addressed himself mainly to the students, citing the progress of the Hillel Foundation from its humble beginnings about twenty-five years ago to its present status in the one hundred and thirty universities in Canada, the United States, and Cuba, as an integral part of the Jewish students' college life.

Greetings were offered by representatives of the S.C.M., Newman Club, and I.V.C.F., and the response was given by Martin Sterlin, the student President of Hillel.

To the accompaniment of the choir singing psalms, there was a Torah procession to the chapel, where four scrolls were placed in the ark. The chapel was dedicated by Rabbi Benjamin M. Kahn, who last year was director of Hillel here. The Perpetual Lamp was then lighted.

Dr. D. L. Thomson, Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, gave a short address of greetings from the University. The ceremony closed with a benediction given by Rabbi Wise.

Arts and Science Society Accepts Financial Report

Part of Constitution Approved; Meeting To Be Held Shortly

Arts and Science Undergraduates meeting yesterday at five o'clock in Room 12 of the Arts Building, accepted a financial report concerning the ACS Formal, and adopted part of the proposed constitution of the Society. The new constitution was printed in its entirety in the February 14 edition of the Daily.

President Bill Fingland outlined the work undertaken by the executive during the past year with a special emphasis on the ACS Formal, a subject which has evoked much controversy. Following a financial statement was submitted by Treasurer Brian Dougherty. This report showed that the formal took a loss of $591.71 but since the Commerce Undergraduate Society agreed to underwrite the venture one-third, this figure becomes $394.47. A balance of $580.10 remains to cover the activities of the present term. After much discussion as to the feasibility of future formal of this nature, the report was accepted as read.

Turning to the matter of the constitution, the meeting first concerned itself with the quorum necessary for the approval of the various articles. The chairman pointed out, however, that since no constitution was now in effect, a definite number was not required for its ratification. To overcome the difficulty a motion was carried which declared the meeting as a committee on the whole to approve of at least the first four articles.

Article II now reads: The purpose of the Society shall be to foster spirit and fellowship within the faculty of Arts and Science, and to unite the students through its recreational and educational facilities. Thus Articles I to IV inclusive with the above alteration were accepted.

The meeting adjourned after some discussion on Article V which defines the sex of the various members of the Executive Committee. The members, feeling themselves of insufficient numbers to continue further, advocated the calling of an open meeting to which women would be invited within the next two weeks.

McGILL POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

There will be the usual Wednesday noon meeting at 1 o'clock today. Jean Waelbroeck will give a short talk on "The Recovery of Europe" and will then lead in a discussion to follow.

Mr. Waelbroeck speaks with the background of experience, having travelled extensively throughout Europe. He is a citizen of Belgium, and has lived for a number of years in Switzerland.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

The Cosmopolitan Club St. Valentine's Day sleighride, scheduled for last night, had to be postponed until next week at short notice due to inclement weather. This event will be held instead next week. Watch the Club notices for further information.

The Club executive urges all members to give the nomination of members for next year's executive their serious consideration in anticipation of the formal announcement of the date for nominations, which will be published during the next few days.

Arts, Science 3-4 Oust Engineering 3 In Volleyball Loop

Garner Three Games Out of Four to Reach Finals in League Play

The Intramural volleyball league saw Arts and Science III & IV gain a final berth yesterday as they trounced the strong Engineering III sextet 15-9, 16-14, 6-15, 15-12 in a best of five series. The winners will now await the results of three other contests which will determine the squad that will hook up with them for the coveted volleyball garlands.

CLOSE CONTESTS

Yesterday's fray was a closely-contested affair all the way and the scores do not really indicate the trend of the play. The Arts & Science gang used lank Irv Heller to good advantage and when he teamed up with the smooth setters Eli Solomon, Cliff Golden, and Roy Sheppard the plumbers really had it.

LACK POLISH

The Engineers on the other hand also showed some polish but lacked the sustaining drive needed in a long contest. Avrie Morowitz, Seymour Levine, Dave Krashinsky and Kaufman performed remarkably well and gave a good fight before going down to defeat.

The schedule next week will see Commerce III and IV meeting Phys. Ed. with the winner clashing with Science II to decide who will enter the finals against Arts and Science III and IV.

Dr. J.P. Humphrey Will Speak Mon. On U.N. Charter

International Law Prof. Will Compare U.N.O. To League of Nations

Dr. J. P. Humphrey will present a critical analysis of the United Nations' Charter to the internationally-minded, on Monday, Feb. 18 at 5 p.m. in the McGill Union Grill-room.

Dr. Humphrey, Professor of International Law at McGill, is considered one of Canada's most eminent jurists in this field. He is President of the Montreal branch of the United Nations Society; he has recently returned from a nationwide lecture tour under the auspices of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

Dr. Humphrey in the course of his address will compare the instrument set up this time with that which so lamentably failed before; a live and fearful interest in the growth of the Charter is the only guarantee of its success.

This meeting is sponsored by the International Relations Club.

Inter-University Club Will Hold Social Meeting

Cocktail on Saturday Set for Students Of McGill, Montreal

The Inter-University Club is holding a social event next Saturday for students of McGill and Montreal Universities to meet together. It is a cocktail party to be held in the U. of M. C.O.T.C. (480 Sherbrooke east) from 5-7 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale at the Union Tuck Shop for 35c. This event is part of the program of the Inter-University to promote acquaintance between the students of the French-speaking and English-speaking universities in Montreal.

Last term the Inter-University Club held a dance in the Union Ball room and a special tour of the University of Montreal for McGill students. The program this term is expected to broaden out and include inter-faculty meetings and tours.

The Club Inter-Universitaire was founded a few years ago and its constitution was completed last year. The President is elected alternately from McGill and the Université de Montreal.
